GIVES A REPORT OF OFFER MADE

Senatorial Investigation Committee Finds One Man Who Declares He Was Actually Offered Bribe.

STONE CONTRADICTS THE GOVERNOR

Says That He Had Many Conferences With Chief Executive After He Gave Him The Money Raised.

SPecIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
Madison, Wis., April 23.—Assemblyman Leach testified before the senatorial election investigation committee that a bribe had been offered him for his vote or other assistance in Senator Stephenson's election.

He swore that D. H. Davis, a private detective employed by Henry Overbeck, one of the Stephenson managers, said to him:

"Now I am authorized to tell you what you can have anything you want if you'll stay in."

Mr. Leach said he spurned the offer and it got no farther.

State Game Warden Stone testified that he had authorized and approved but not required the deputy wardens to raise the $1,200 they made up and which he had handed to Governor Davis.

Mr. Stone denied the Governor's statement that the Governor had sent for Stone or asked an explanation about the game warden's fund.

Gov. Davisson had testified that he never saw nor was he able to find Stone after the latter handed the money to the Governor.

Mr. Stone today contradicted this, declaring he had many conferences with the Governor after giving him the $200 and the $1,000 bunches of money, but the Governor never asked about the money.

EVANSVILLE USED AS AN ARGUMENT

BY TEMPERANCE PEOPLE OF WHAT A CITY CAN ACCOMPLISH.

THE CUT-OFF CITY A MODEL

To Rest of the State as Regards Keeping Out Saloons—Some Facts Given.

Evansville has been selected as the model city of Wisconsin by the anti-saloon league orators and is held up as a bright and striking example of what can be accomplished in a manufacturing city where liquor is not sold. Evansville has never had a saloon so this evil is unknown and the anti-saloon workers follow this statement out with the following description of the city:

A more conspicuous example of the effectiveness of continuous abstinence cannot be found in the United States than the city of Evansville, Wisconsin; it is a city of less than 2,000 population; a city of homes, where the average value of real estate per family is some $3,000; the average value of houses is $200 per family; and of watches $75 per family. They have a telephone for each five persons, or an average of one per family; and the city boasts of some 40 automobiles. A review of the business men in Dun and Bradstreet shows them possessed of a greater per capita wealth than the business men of any similar sized city in the state. It also shows that the business men are worth more in proportion to the total population of the city.

The city is noted for its magnificent churches, public buildings, public utilities, and for its splendid stores. One of their department stores reports this year $265,000 sales, and another one more than $100,000, which is, in their estimation, pretty fair business for a hard-times year. There are more than 30 business places in the city, including the Baker Manufacturing company, making gas engines and windmills, which employs 125 men, and a butter factory employing some 20 men. The two stores above mentioned, together with these two factories, report this year total sales of $1,600,000.

Not Shunned by Farmers.
Evansville is a splendid refutation of the liquor idea that "farmers will not come to a dry town." Five hundred and thirty-two cars of stock alone were shipped from Evansville this year; the total freight receipts at the depot were $93,714.21, and the express on milk $1,634.01; the total passenger receipts $21,916.30.

Evansville has built a complete electric lighting system which is owned by the city, and also a municipal waterworks system, both of which reach every remote corner of the city. The total cost to the city for these two utilities was $55,000. The city was bonded to pay for these improvements, as also for the public school buildings, but, with all of these extra expenses, the tax is but $16.00. Stores and public buildings have been erected in that city within the last five years to the value of $120,000, in addition to numerous private dwellings. Evansville has about 650 pupils in her public schools, and her graduates are more numerous, in proportion to her population, than any other city in the state. She spends annually upon her schools $12,000.

No Paupers There.

Some years ago the churches held a union Thanksgiving service at which they took an offering for the poor. A committee was appointed to dispense this offering, ever since which time the committee has been endeavoring to get rid of the money, but to no avail. EVANSCVILLE HAS NO PAUPERS. In the midst of these hard times, while the rest of us poor devils are contorted with cramp in our wallet, the Evansville citizens are all down with swelling of the bank account.

The public improvements in Evansville have been erected without one cent of revenue, directly or indirectly, from the liquor business, and it is conspicuous that no one has ever breathed a word regarding graft. The Evansville taxpayer gets one hundred cents on the dollar, and money is spent for public improvements. Two years ago a Milwaukee brewing company circulated the report that they would pave the main street of Evansville with brick for a mile, and would pay the city $2,000 per year for the privilege of opening one bar in a $30,000 hotel which they agreed to erect. If the city would guarantee them bonds for three years, sixty-two citizens of the city of Evansville signed a petition to bring on the election. Their reason for signing it was stated thus: "We wish to get saloons and reduce taxes." The ladies of the city took the list of names and compared them with the tax lists. Investigation showed that the entire number paid but 2 per cent of the city's tax, and that more than half of them had never contributed a red cent to the city in taxes; whereupon the citizens decided that it would be impossible to reduce their taxes, and turned the proposition down by a vote of three to one.

Workmen's Efficiency High.
Ten years ago the Baker Manufacturing company had about decided to leave the city in order to secure better railroad facilities. In glancing over the reports of manufacturing establishments in Illinois and Wisconsin, they found that the per capita product of the men in the Evansville factory was greatly in excess of that of any other plant manufacturing similar lines in either state. A study of the situation convinced them that this fact was due to the total abstinence of their men, and that if saloons were present they could not continue the policy of total abstinence. It is therefore due to the no-licensing policy of the city, and that alone, that this manufacturing enterprise is located there today.

The testimony of the business men of the city is also eloquent upon this point. Without exception, they said that it had been the greatest advantage of the city, Mr. Mullin foreman of the Fairbanks-Morse Manufacturing company, stated before the men's class of the First Congregational church, recently, that he had worked in many factories, including the one at Evansville, and that the per capita product of the men in the Evans-

Florida contributes two new beauties to Washington society.

The capital is greatly interested in the family of Florida's new United States senator, Hon. Duncan Fletcher. Senator Fletcher has just arrived and taken his seat in the upper house of congress. He has brought with him from the south his two talented and beautiful daughters, Miss Nellie Fletcher, shown on the left in the picture above, and Miss Louise, shown on the right. The Misses Fletcher have been heartily received into the younger senatorial circle, and the Fletcher home will be one of the social centers during the extra session of congress.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE demoralizing effects of hotel or boarding house life for young people are so little realized that it is a common thing to hear young women exclaim: "Oh, if I could only board or live at a hotel I'd be perfectly happy. I'm so tired of doing housework." Poor, foolish little wives! Imagine exchanging the home life of a cozy flat or cottage for the dreary public parlors of a boarding house or hotel.

The most restless, bored and unhappy women I know are those who pass their days in dress parades in the vulgar glare of hotel life. With no household care or tasks to interest them, thus hangs heavily on their hands. So they congregate in little groups in the parlors, gossiping and discussing their friends, or the latest arrivals.

Put a number of idle, purposeless women in daily association with each other, their conversation is not very apt to rise above the level of salacious scandal, morbid novels, or the everlasting repetition of clothes. A continual atmosphere of this "unwholesomeness" will surely poison both mind and soul.

No happiness or privacy is possible for husband and wife within the walls of a hotel. There is no home atmosphere to welcome a man at the close of the day—no ties to keep him there in the evening. His wife is sitting in the parlor playing bridge with the other women—who may as well go to the club.

Even the dining-room is like a stage, where all the actors are watched and critized in every part of their roles. No freedom of the soft shaded dinner-table for two that a home-mates possible. No wonder the monotonous repetition of meals are hurriedly eaten and gotten through with as soon as possible.

A woman cannot feel much interested in beautifying or making pleasant "furnished rooms." And when there are no duties to occupy her idle hands she is pretty liable to indulge in foolish, wasteful ways of spending her time.

Living on the street or in the stores, shopping and looking at the latest styles, attending countless lame matinee performances, are only a few of the ways that a woman will trivial precious days, if she dwells in the unnatural atmosphere of boarding house or hotel.

THE NEW MAYOR.

The message of Mayor Carlo delivered to the new council last evening is refreshing because it says something, and because back of it is a man who does things. In the appointment of committees good judgment is shown and there is every reason to believe that his administration will be fair and impartial.

The position taken on finance and need for economy will be heartily endorsed by all taxpayers, and suggestions offered on street building are worthy of careful attention.

The lack of intelligence which has long prevailed in selecting material for streets, and methods employed in the work, have been subjects for criticism, and efforts to economize have resulted in extravagant waste.

Money enough has been sacrificed during the past decade to have given the city fifty miles of brick pavement, and it would be difficult to find five miles of good macadam in the city today. The mayor will find the people with him in any effort made to improve these conditions.

It is gratifying to know that the new administration starts with the decks cleared from all entanglements, so far as the police force is concerned. Mayor Carlo believes in law as a wholesome measure and when he says "Obey the law" he means just that and nothing less. The police department will find the right kind of backing in all efforts made to enforce the law.

The city has long been burdened with a squad of pensioners who depend for existence on ward funds spent under direction of the aldermen, and without much regard to the street commissioner.

The whole system is wrong and the city would be better served if the ward fund system was abandoned. As it is, the street commissioner has ten assistants and all of them have a vote. The ward fund gives them an opportunity to spend money on work that they know nothing about, and to employ men physically incompetent to perform the work. One of these worthy veterans spent three months clearing out a ditch up near the golf grounds last fall.

Streets are torn up and left impassable for months because the street commissioner is powerless to act without instruction from the aldermen. One of the best residence streets in the third ward has been in this condition since the first of last January, and nothing doing.

The mayor will find plenty of things which need reforming, and he will also find a constituency back of him ready to sustain all efforts to improve conditions. The Gazette voices popular sentiment in wishing Mayor Carlo success.

THE GAME LAWS.

The effort made to restore spring shooting for ten days in April, and give sportsmen a little recreation, will fail, because of a mistaken sentiment. The fact seems to be overlooked that migratory birds belong to no state in particular, and that protection in a single state amounts to nothing so far as increasing the fall shooting is concerned.

The state has gone daffy on the protection of game. A law is passed prohibiting the sale of game, which a dozen men could enforce, and which is all the protection needed—and then $100,000 is spent on game wardens whose principal duty is to watch every man with a gun, when not busy with the game of politics.

The pot-hunter is the only man who needs a game law, and when there is no market for his game his occupation is gone. The sportsman who spends a day or a week in the woods is not disposed to be a law-breaker.

What is true of game is equally true of fish. Under existing laws men are prohibited from fishing with hook and line until sometime in June, and it does not require a very high order of intelligence to discover that fish in streams like Rock river are not fit to eat in warm weather.

The open season for hook and line fishing in all Wisconsin waters should be the year round, and if half the money spent in watching fishermen was invested in stocking the streams the supply would rapidly increase.

TARIFF REFORM COMING.

The old methods are fast passing away in many departments of public business; and this present revision of the tariff is doubtless the last one of its kind that we shall be called upon to witness. Henceforth the tariff is to be taken out of party politics, at least to a great extent, and handled in a scientific way, upon the basis of industrial facts and statistics. The protest that the members of the house are competent to review the tariff schedules as a mere incident in the course of their general work as members of a legislative body will have to be abandoned. It is almost as absurd as it would be to pretend that the members of the census committee are capable of doing the work of the census bureau. In a matter of this kind, statesmen and law-givers must learn how to employ the services of experts and statisticians.—Review of Reviews.

A permanent tariff commission is the only intelligent plan to dispose of the question which is causing so much disturbance in congress.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road has placed an order for 65,000 tons of steel rails, representing an investment of one and a half million dollars. This is a good omen and means that the company is anticipating with confidence the return of prosperity. When the tariff thunders adjourn the country will settle down to business.

That the game-warden is a necessary evil to a reform administration is apparent from the investigation now going on in Madison. One of them testifies that he was selected for a subscription and told that he could cover the amount in his expense account. The supposition is that the state paid for a good deal of this kind of money advanced by the wardens. Wisconsin leads the procession on reforms.

The total amount of money paid to stock and bondholders from January 1st to June 1st this year is estimated at $605,000,000. This indicates that the nation is doing business at the same old stand, and that the stock of confidence is not seriously impaired.

The lack of intelligence which has long prevailed in selecting material for streets, and methods employed in the work, have been subjects for criticism, and efforts to economize have resulted in extravagant waste.

Money enough has been sacrificed during the past decade to have given the city fifty miles of brick pavement, and it would be difficult to find five miles of good macadam in the city today. The mayor will find the people with him in any effort made to improve these conditions.

Here Is a Sample of Painless Dentistry

I extracted a tooth for a lady who was so nervous, through fear, that she was in a perfect frenzy.

After taking out the tooth I went into the adjoining room to see another patient. Several minutes passed when the lady came out and begged me to hurry or she would not be able to have the work done.

When I showed her that the tooth had been out for ten minutes she declared I had performed a miracle, and left with a number of my business cards to distribute among her friends!

I don't perform miracles, but "I don't hurt a bit." And I fill and crown teeth in the same "miraculous" manner, i. e., Without Pain.

It's a new method and I am the only dentist in Janesville using it. I call it the "No-Pain" method.

Come and see me if you are afraid of the dentist.

MRS. JAMES CUTTER HAS PASSED AWAY

Died at Her Home at Eleven O'Clock This Morning—Mrs. J. S. Kearney, Called Home.

At eleven o'clock this morning, Mrs. James Cutter passed away at her home, 23 Sinclair street. Her death was caused by paralysis which has kept her an invalid for the past seven years.

Mrs. Cutter was born March 4, 1844 at Catskill, Greene county, New York. When about four years of age she came to Wisconsin with her parents, who settled in Lima. On March 15, 1862, she was united in marriage to James Cutter, the young couple moving to Fairfield. They lived there until four years ago, when they moved to this city. During their residence here she has made a host of friends who deeply mourn her loss. Besides a husband, she is survived by four children—two sons and two daughters—and one grandchild. They are W. L. and Theron Cutter, Miss Minnie Cutter, Mrs. Dykeman, and Miss Lydia Snyder of Capron, Ill.

Mrs. Cutter was a noble, Christian woman, whose death will be mourned by a host of friends. Her loss will be deeply felt by her family, as she was a devoted wife and a loving mother. To her friends she always remained true. The large circle of friends in this city is augmented by an equally great number in Fairfield and vicinity.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at half past one from the late home, 23 Sinclair street, and the interment will take place at the Emerald Grove cemetery.

Mrs. J. S. Kearney. This morning at 6:45, at her home in the Jeffries flats, Mrs. J. S. Kearney passed away, death being caused by a complication of diseases. Mrs. Kearney was sixty years of age, born November 18, 1849, in Groton, New Hampshire. In 1858 she came west with her parents when they took up their residence in Medford, Minnesota. There she spent her girlhood and remained until July 3, 1872, when she was married to Mr. Kearney. They took up their residence in Milwaukee and lived there for eleven years, then coming to Janesville. She and her husband have since made their home here. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and four sons—John, Philip, Percy and Bernard.

Short prayer services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Denison officiating. The remains will be taken to Medford for burial on the 8:50 train on the St. Paul road.

Mrs. Anna Wendal. The funeral of Mrs. Anna Wendal will be held tomorrow afternoon after the arrival of the remains at four o'clock. Instead of today as was previously stated. The services will be held at Oak Hill, Rev. W. P. Christy officiating.

THE OUTDOOR CLUB MEET AT LIBRARY

Meeting of Nature Study Society Will Be Held At Half Past Ten.

Will Be No Jaunt.

With the coming of spring weather, it has been the plan of Miss Skavlen who has charge of the Outdoor Club, to take the boys and girls out for field work in so far as the weather will permit. Last Saturday the youngsters journeyed to the cemetery where their program was given and then a search for new varieties of birds to be added on to the lists of the members of the club was begun. The session was a most enjoyable one and a profitable one as well, and another was planned for tomorrow but has been postponed on account of the rain which some of the members who are also members of the Y. M. C. A., are to take earlier in the morning. In order to take these jaunts, the librarian and her assistant, Miss Lee, plan for an early start so as to be able to return by noon.

The birds which will be described tomorrow are:

Cow Bird.....Malcolm McDermott
Cow Warbler.....Bradley Conrad
Red-headed Woodpecker.....Willard Held
Winter Wren.....Carroll Whaley
Tree Sparrow.....Marion Whaley
Barn Swallow.....Vera Rogan
Belted Kingfisher.....Lucia Denison

SEEK TRADE OF CANADA

TORONTO MAN TELLS AMERICAN MERCHANTS HOW TO GET BUSINESS.

MEETING HELD IN DETROIT

J. A. McDonald Declares Fair Tariff Arrangement is Only Way to Produce Desired Results—Says Annexation is Dead Issue.

Detroit, Mich., Apr. 23.—J. A. McDonald of Toronto, in addressing the conference here on Canadian trade relations, advised the delegates how to bring about an increase in business and better conditions. "It's your move," he told the American business men, who listened to his address with great interest.

"Curtain it is that representatives from Ottawa will never again go to Washington to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with the United States," continued Mr. McDonald.

Incidentally Canada's representative in the conference told the 100 delegates from many cities in this country that sentiment in Canada in favor of annexation with the United States is dead, buried deep, "beneath the industrial prosperity and commercial confidence into which Canada has come during these last dozen years."

Talks About the Tariff.

Canada's protective tariff was only imposed, Mr. McDonald stated, to meet the prohibitive features of the American tariff. "When your McKinley tariff suddenly killed Canadian trade in important lines serious injury was inflicted on many Canadian industries. Our people then sought markets elsewhere. Formerly they traded south; now they trade east and west. They have proved themselves, their strength and other resources. They are no longer dependent on any one market."

"I tell you plainly that the one certain way for you to secure better trade relations with Canada is to secure a more reasonable tariff against Canadian goods entering your country. You must learn for yourselves and you must teach your people that trade is a stick with two ends."

Former Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio was chosen chairman of the conference at the opening session. The speakers at the first session were Henry H. Towne, president of the Merchants' Association of New York; Chairman Herrick and William Judson of Grand Rapids. Mr. Towne argued strongly for a permanent tariff commission or board, and his remarks resulted in the adoption of a resolution instructing the committee on resolutions to include an expression on this subject in the formal resolution to be submitted to the conference later.

Herrick for Free Lumber.

Former Gov. Herrick, while proclaiming himself a protectionist, declared that he had been for several years in favor of free lumber. "Every means for making the flow of trade and commerce easy should be encouraged," said Gov. Herrick, adding that the influence of such conferences as the present one is being felt as never before. He declared that there is an awakening of interest on the part of business men in the country on questions affecting the public welfare.

The following committee was appointed to act upon resolutions which may be submitted by the delegates: S. C. Mende and H. R. Towne of New York; W. J. Shepard of Buffalo, N. Y.; Silas Adams of Portland, Me.; George Spencer of Duluth, Minn.; G. E. Pomeroy of Toledo; F. T. Simmons of Chicago, and L. L. Barbour and J. L. Hudson of Detroit, Mich.

No Delegates from Montreal.

Montreal, Apr. 23.—Taking the ground that when Canada was open to negotiations for a treaty of trade reciprocity with the United States, the authorities of the latter country refused to entertain the idea, the Montreal board of trade has voted down a resolution to send delegates to the reciprocity conference which opened in Detroit yesterday. The ground was taken that the first proposals for reciprocity in trade should come from the United States.

PREDICTS CHINA'S SELF RULE.

Yung Kwal Says Empire Will Stop Outside Interference.

Washington, Apr. 23.—"I hope to see the day when China will manage its own affairs."

"Mr. Secretary, that is coming very soon—perhaps in less than ten years."

This, in brief, was the colloquy between Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Anna Kwal, secretary of the Imperial Chinese special embassy, at the department of agriculture today, when the affairs of the Flower King-dow were referred to.

The occasion was the formal presentation to the secretary by Mr. Kwal, on behalf of Tong Shih Yu, who was sent here as China's ambassador, to thank the government for the remission of the Boxer indemnity.

"Dry" to Fight for Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Apr. 23.—Nebraska is to be the next battleground in the general campaign for prohibition, according to Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who, with Miss Anne Gordon, vice-president, is in the city conferring with officials of the state and local unions.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

FEEDING BABIES.

It is not only during the summer months that great care should be taken in feeding the babies. Many infants are killed every year by overfeeding, and more by wrong feeding. There are many mothers who make a practice of bringing their babies to the table and giving them a little of this and a little of that and the other—meat, vegetables, pie, pickles, or whatever may be on the table.

These are all articles of diet to which the little stomach is not accustomed, nor is it capable of taking care of them. The result is that the baby sickens, often dies, and the death certificates usually show as a cause diarrhea, dysentery, cholera infantum, summer complaint, convulsions, brain fever, etc., but all these are only names that are used for the result of poisoning with improper food.

So, don't overfeed the babies; don't give them rich food, meats, gravies, pastries, cake, etc., nor a great variety. The simpler the food the better. Keep up the daily bath until it becomes a fixed habit, and give them all the fresh air and sunshine possible.

Which Was the Slayer.

Cedarcburg, Wis., Apr. 23.—Charles Gottschalk, Jr., and his wife were found dead in their room last night. A discharged revolver on the floor indicated that one had killed the other and then committed suicide. The couple had quarreled frequently.

Business Man Falls.

Wabash, Ind., Apr. 23.—S. J. Payne, until recently one of Wabash's most substantial business men, has failed, creditors forcing receivership proceedings. Walter S. Bent was named receiver. The liabilities are $40,000.

Illinois Pythians Meet.

Sterling, Ill., Apr. 23.—The annual convention of the Knights of Pythias of the Nineteenth Illinois district was in session here. Three hundred delegates were present.

CONCRETE MIXER

Ready for Small Jobs Where Power Machines Would Not Pay.

An invention of much interest to contractors especially those who do a great deal of small work, is the portable concrete mixer designed by a Texas. This apparatus works very simply and is valuable for use on small operations or repair work, where it would not pay to use one of the cumbersome and expensive power machines. The mixer consists of a large iron box, at either end of which are wheels, which revolve upon an axis that runs through the box and on which the latter hangs loosely. Across the front is a wheel which is used to mix the material.

Mr. Flint referred to suggestions that had been offered by the West Virginia senator in the schedules. He said he proposed to have a full explanation of the schedules and to give other senators an opportunity to vote to lower some of the rates.

SCIENCE NOTES

In order to write a book on the subject, which has recently appeared, Mr. A. M. Worthington has devoted 10 years to the study of water splashing. Minute investigation of the subject has been made possible, but of great interest, by the use of the modern camera, by which a series of pictures have been made showing the splash at different stages. If a drop of milk is allowed to fall from a height of 13 inches into a cup of tea or coffee, to which milk has not been added, observation shows us that the white drop appears to penetrate a short distance into the dark liquid and then bounces out again. To find out what really happens we have only to inspect the photographs of the drop as it enters the liquid, it forms a hollow bowl or crater six or eight times its own size (in diameter), the milk flowing up the steep sides in radial streams; surface tension then pulls down the walls of the crater, the milk streaming back from all sides towards the center of the crater, from which a fountain rises, curving the reconstructed milk drop upon its summit.

The latest development of Niagara power is the letting of contracts for about 300 miles of transmission lines, by which it is proposed to serve the cities of Canada lying between Toronto and London. From Niagara Falls the line runs 60 miles northward to Dundas, where it divides, one line of 40 miles running to Toronto and two others going in a westerly direction to London. The northern branch is about 120 miles long and the southern 75 miles. From London there is a 14-mile extension to St. Thomas. It is expected that the line will eventually be extended to Windsor, opposite Detroit, a distance of some 100 miles. Three-phase current will be supplied by the Ontario Power Company, at Niagara Falls, Canada, at 12,000 volts and 25 cycles, and will be stepped up to 110,000 volts for transmission. The present capacity designed for is 40,000 horsepower. The transmission will be made by means of aluminum cable and about 500 tons of this metal will be required for the purpose.

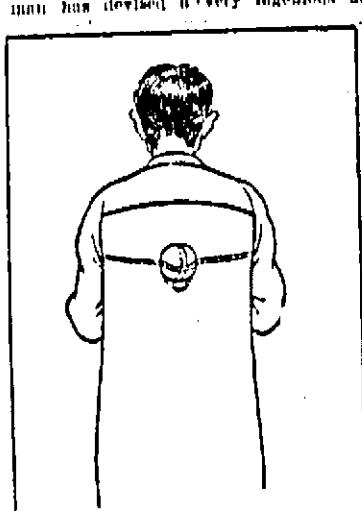

Experiments made by the officers of an English railroad seem to demonstrate that a waterproof compound can be made from a mixture of cement and clay. The best results were obtained with cement mixed with clay in proportions of one of clay to seven of cement, and the mixture then used as the cement in a 1.5 mud mortar. Tests of this mortar over eight inches thick were impermeable. Specimens six inches thick containing the same materials, but mixed with a 5 per cent alum solution were also impermeable when subjected to a 40-pound water pressure.

In some of the coal mines of Europe the use of dynamite and powder has been discarded for bringing down the rock, and their steel cartridges of late are made of iron. The cartridges contain fulminate oxide ground to powder, from 3 to 4½ inches long and have a groove on one side in which a flattened perforated tube is placed. The covering is of stout cloth, while the other end is fitted with a cap. The cartridges are inserted and tampered in the same manner as powder, and a small fuse plug is then connected with the cap on the tube by means of a short flexible pipe, and water approximately equal in amount to the quantity of lime is forced through the perforations into the cartridge. The lime being thus saturated, the cap is closed and steam is generated, which, with the expansion of the lime itself, breaks down the coal.

ANTISNORING DEVICE

(Ball Between the Shoulder Blades Awakes Wearer.)

Snorers are undoubtedly a bad habit. Unfortunately it is almost impossible for the snorer afflicted with this objectionable habit to know when he is snorting under usual tones. It is well known that if the sufferer from this habit can be prevented from resting on his back while sleeping he will not snore. A Chicago man has devised a very ingenious but harmless contrivance that claims will effect a speedy cure. It is shown in the accompanying illustration, consisting of a ball, which is fitted with straps and harness, so that it will be just between the shoulder blades. Should the wearer roll over on his back he will be immediately awoken.

CRACK RACING CREW OF THE BATTLESHIP LOUISIANA WHICH HAS WON WORLD HONORS IN THE TWO-LIVE-BORED NAVAL RACING CUTTER.

Real world's conquerors, with no other world in sight to overcome, are the members of the rowing crew of the United States battleship Louisiana, who have won every trophy to be contested for in the Atlantic fleet,

Returning from the recent cruise around the world the 12 men who pull in the Louisiana's racing cutter, are the heroes of their ship and of the fleet, for in every race against crews of their own fleet and against the foreign stars they have come off with honors.

Long ago other ships of the Atlantic fleet quit battling against the Louisiana, for there had been a scarcity of money on these same ships following every race with the Louisiana. However the Jackies made up this on the world tour. Foreign sailors, very proud of their oarsmen were willing to put slathers of oil on their chowder, and not on one occasion did they take any of the American Jackie's simoleons.

The honor showered on a college football team after a great victory is in significant compare to the devotion of the sailors of a ship to their racing crew. The navy department boasts the game and provides a special training ship in from their wages to help crews. One of the conditions of the trophy is that any British ship encountering the American battleship, holding it may challenge. May 4, 1907, the Argyle steamed into Hampton Roads and challenged the Illinois. The Britishers capped the trophy.

The possession was short lived, however, as the Louisiana crew challenged and won it back in September. Since then it has been defended four times, twice against British challengers at New Zealand and Australia.

Among the other trophies held by the Louisiana are the Belmont cup, which has been contested for in the navy since 1897; the Callao cup won from the Peruvians on the trip around the world, the Glided Rooster presented by the navy department, the Dumbell cup and the football cup presented by a New Orleans paper.

Many of the cups were won on the Pacific coast during the stop there on the world trip, among them the San Pedro cup, three Seattle cups and two San Pedro cups for various classes of crews, such as engineers and first and second classmen. Three cups presented by the Chinese government were won at Amoy, while the Thompson cup was won from the Japs at Yokohama. The Pensacola cup and Havana cups are also on board the Louisiana.

Have a Rummage Sale of Your Own

This is serious—

At this glorious springtime—thoughts of new things are uppermost in one's mind—not in clothing line alone—but throughout the household a general replacement takes place—

What becomes of the old stuff?

Piled away in garret or storeroom most likely—and forgotten.

Why, if you would go through the basement or storeroom of the average family today you would find an accumulation of discards from years back.

The strange thing is that hundreds of people want the very things for which you have no further use.

It's easy for you to find a customer, too—

All you have to do is to tell your story to everybody.

The Want Ad way is the way to reach everybody quickly and at little cost.

THE DAY'S FABLE.

One day, as the Hare was peeping out of her burrow, the Fox came along and charged her with robbing.

"Why, I don't even know the meaning of the term," indignantly replied the Hare.

"Oh, don't try to play innocent with me. You have been favoring the giraffe over the rhinoceros, and that's robbery."

"But I deny it."

"But you will have to come to the Lion with me and let him judge."

The Hare went willingly, and when the Lion had heard the case he said:

"I am in doubt about it. I think you had better take this case before the Eagle."

The Eagle heard the evidence and pondered over it, and said that while he was quite satisfied that the Hare was guilty he would like the opinion of the Buffalo.

The Buffalo looked wise as the case was laid before him, and then decided for the Hare, but asked that the Python pass on the case. The Python digested it and said the Hare was either guilty or not guilty, and he would like to know what the Giraffe and Rhinoceros thought.

It turned out that one thought one way and the other, and the Fox and there were about to go to the Jackal for still another opinion when Reynard suddenly seized Humpy in his jaws and said:

"To save further time and trouble, I will simply eat the case up."

COVERED DISTANCE IN VERY FAST TIME

Beloit Runners on Four-mile Marathon Go That Distance in Twenty-two Minutes and Twenty-six and a Half.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Beloit, Wis., April 23.—Otis George, a junior in the Beloit high school, starting with a handicap of 8 minutes, won the four-mile Marathon yesterday afternoon, finishing first in twenty-six and one-half minutes. Fred Marks, who now holds the two-mile record which he made in the interscholastic meet at Beloit last year, made the heat time; finishing the distance in twenty-two minutes flat. Thomas Glazier was only a short distance behind him. Neither was allowed a handicap.

This is the first annual four-mile Marathon of the Beloit high school. The distance covered was from Rockford to the Beloit high school. The first contest has shown that the high school has a number of good distance men and it is probable now that both Rockford and Janesville high schools will be challenged to dual contests of this kind.

The Moosejaw "Roshwoods" of the Weston, Canadian, longue, defeated the Beloit college nine in the second practice game yesterday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1 in six innings. An Indian, named Rose, nineteen years of age, was in the box part of the game for the visitors and gave as clever an exhibition of twirling as has been seen on Keppel field for some time. The score by inning:

R. H. E. Moosejaw 10 1 0 0 1 0 3 4 2 Beloit 10 0 1 0 0 1 2 3

Batteries: Moosejaw—Smith and Rose, Stein and Asplund; Beloit—Lion and Gleghorn, Connors and Reed. Umpire—Peterseneyer.

Streets.

The care of our streets is one of the most important departments we have placed in our charge, and, to my mind, the one where we get the best result for the amount expended. How to man a good, permanent street at a reasonable cost is the question.Our neighboring cities—Madison, Beloit and Watertown—are paving their streets with brick, even in the residence districts. We are using immaculate. Which is the better? The streets we have paved with macadam, were they rightly constructed and the right kind of stone used? Some of them are giving good service, while others are fast wearing out. What is the cause? Are we paving as many streets each year as we should? To the traffic of the city our streets must be kept in good condition. These questions are before us, and the time has come when we must take some action.

Assistant Street Commissioner.

There was some discussion in the last council with reference to discontinuing this office... What few board or blank walls we now have in the city must be getting old and rotten, and will need closer attention to avoid accidents.But, by reason of the large number of cement walls that have been built in the past few years, it would seem as if it would not require the time for inspection that it did when practically all were board walls. If this is so, would it not be better to continue this office,
the person holding it to devote a part of his time to the inspection of walls, as heretofore, and the remainder (this council to decide how much) to be under the orders of the street commissioner to superintend such work
as he may decide?

Sewerage.

Our sewerage system as adopted a number of years ago is being pushed to completion as fast as is possible.
One year ago we had about nine and one-half miles completed. Today we have about seventeen miles completed and under contract. The main outlet sewer, which is the most expensive of all, will soon be completed. We have also about five miles of private sewer which was constructed before the system of the city was adopted, now connected with, and made a part of the city system. So far there is only about three-fourths of a mile completed for this year. As the sewers should be put in before a street is paved, and as we should certainly have our streets paved, it is necessary that new sewers should be constructed as fast as possible, and not become too much of a burden in the way of taxes to the people.

Police.

This department has been the cause of much complaint and criticism
the past year. It has not been satisfactory to the people of the city, nor anyone who felt he had unquestioned authority. There was too much "go as you please." I question whether we have a right to lay the blame on any person, but believe it was owing to a condition which we would have been obliged to meet sooner or later. While it has created much dissatisfaction, waiting for a decision, the condition has now been met—the courts have decided, and we at last know who is chief, and where to place the responsibility. I believe it is our bounden duty to give Alderman Appleby all the support and encouragement we possibly can, with ample time and opportunity, to bring the force up to that standard of efficiency
the needs of the city demand.

Fire Department.

With this department, I believe the people of the city are well satisfied.An inspection of the fire stations, together with the appearance of the teams and apparatus as seen, on our streets would indicate that everything is receiving proper care and attention.Chief Klein reports that since the purchase of the new fire engine he is well equipped for any emergency.

Lighting.

With reference to this department,
I wish to make this request. We are now procuring most of the lights for the city from the Janesville Electric company under contract which will not expire until July 1, 1910.

Owing to the criticism I received with reference to my connection with this corporation; I desire to leave all transactions of every kind and nature that the city may have with this company, so far as lies in my power, entirelyin your hands, with the request that you require of them equal service, and hold them to their contract as you would with any other corporation or company having transactions with the city.

Bridges.

I am fearful that this department will be an expensive one in the near future. I am informed that the Court street bridge is in good condition, Jackton street bridge in fair condition,
but the Milwaukee street, Fourth avenue, and Montevideo bridges will all need more or less repairs, while Spring Brook bridge should be replaced with a new one.

Schools.

Good schools are the greatest blessings any city can have. A place where all the children of every class and condition can attend and prepare themselves for the active duties of life which await them. The city of Janesville has the credit of having the equal of any schools in the state and as well managed. They are worthy of our best efforts to sustain them.

Parks.

Our parks are kept in good condition.
Two dozen sets were purchased and placed in the different parks of the city for the convenience of the public last year. A reasonableamount should again be appropriated for their maintenance.

Public Library.

Last Tuesday, for the first time, I visited the new library building of this city. I found there three rooms, all shelves and well filled with books,
treating on practically every subject
one could desire—twenty thousand volumes. By the constant changing and re-changing of the books about thirty-eight thousand were taken out the past year. Our library should receive the same appropriation as heretofore. Last, but not least—

Health and Health Officer.

The people of this city are to be congratulated upon the fact that, for a long term of time, we have been practically free of all contagious diseases. To uphold this record it is necessary that all streets, alleys, yards, and over our buildings, be kept in good sanitary condition.The health officer has the right, and furthermore, it is his duty to make an inspection of any place within the city that he has cause to believe is not so kept. As in the past, so now, we should appoint someone to that position who will not lax in the performance of his duties.

Standing Committee.

Announcement was then made by the mayor of the appointment of the following standing committee:

Old Rules Adopted.

On motion of Ald. Clark the rules of the old council were adopted for the guidance of the new one and Monday evening, April 26, was set as the date for the first regular meeting.

Sheridan is President.

Ald. J. J. Sheridan was elected

President of the Council on the first ballot. The vote stood as follows:

Sheridan 6, Buchholz 3, and Dunn 1.

President-elect Sheridan arose and made a brief address thanking his colleagues for the honor conferred.

C. V. Kerch Re-Elected.

C. V. Kerch was re-elected city engineer on the first ballot, receiving 7 votes to 3 for J. T. Hurd.

Health Officer Buckmaster.

Dr. S. D. Buckmaster was elected health officer on the fifth ballot, receiving 6 votes to 3 for Dr. G. C.

Waufile and 1 for Dr. W. D. Merritt.

The first ballot stood as follows:

Waufile 4, Buckmaster 2, Merritt 2,

and Farmarworth 2. Dr. Buckmaster received one of Mr. Farmarworth's votes, on the second ballot and on the third ballot he polled both of Dr.

Farmarworth's votes and one from Dr.

Merritt. The fourth vote was Waufile

4, Buckmaster 4, Farmarworth 1, and Peter Riley 1.

Watson Street Commissioner.

It required nine ballots to elect a street commissioner, John H. Watson receiving 6 votes to 3 for James Sonnett and 1 for George Croft. In the sixth and eighth counts, Tom

O'Neill was given a complimentary vote on the fifth count and Ald. Sheridan received one on the seventh.

Commissioner Not Named.

On motion of Ald. Buchholz, Mayor

Carle appointed two additional members of the street commission, committee to comply with the new law.

They are Aldermen Clark and Kimball. His Honor also announced that

Agnes stopped for a second in the doorway. "I don't just understand," she said, hesitating, "why you are here. Is it true that your health is bad?" "No," he said, with a little laugh, "I did feel rather gone to sea before I left town, but now I'm having the time of my life."

"Indeed?" says she. "So far from Wall street? I'm surprised."

He didn't seem to answer—leastways I didn't hear him. Next thing I knew he was standing on the top step.

"Please excuse me," he says, pretty frosty, "I must speak to James."

He went off down the steps and out of sight. She stood and watched him a minute, and I thought she looked puzzled—and solemn. Then she went into the parlor.

We had dinner out doors on the piazza. While it was going on the grown-ups didn't do much talking. It's precious little fun trying to talk against a typhoon and an earthquake mixed, and that's what them "Fresh Air" young ones turned that meal into. "Twas "Hurrur boy! Stand from under!" from the beginning. When I wasn't filling up fish plates I was dodging potato skins and similar bounties. They didn't fire 'em at me, I understand, but it's always the fellow that's looking on at the row who gets hit. Roddy was cap'n of the gun crew. He could chuck a potato skin with his left hand and eat with his right and look pious and shocked all at the same time.

When the juniors was filled up—and it wasn't no slouch of a job to get 'em filled—they went off to start a riot somewhere else and the Twins and the girls had a chance. Van got to telling about Scudder's presents, and he was funny as usual: That Margaret Talford would laugh until I had to join in just out of sympathy, even though I was up to my eyes in soapuds and dishwashing. She was a jolly girl, that one; pretty and full of snap and go.

Nothing would do but them "present" must go on exhibition. So Van lugged 'em down from James' room and lined 'em up on the piazza for inspection. He took a stick for a pointer and gave a lecture about 'em, same as if they was a panorama, pointing out what he called the "feeling" and "atmosphere" of the shell basket and the "perspective" of Marcellus in the crayon enlargement. He had a good time and so did everybody else, especially Miss Talford.

By and by she clapped her hands. "Oh!" says she, "I've got an idea. Did you say your man was going to leave you, Mr. Van Brunt?"

"Van heaved a sigh. "Yes," he says. "I believe he is. I fear that James hasn't the artistic temperament. I confess I'm disappointed. He certainly looked as if he had it; he was sad and soulful and—ah—dyspeptic. But no; even the 'Motherless Home' didn't appeal to him. He says he's going to night."

"I wonder if he would come over to the school?" says she. "We need a man there; not we, Agnes? To help about the place and look out for the boys, and to—well, to protect us."

"Lucky James!" says Van. "But why James? Won't Martin here do—or excuse my blushes—myself?"

But the Talford girl laughed and said he wouldn't do at all. He lacked dignity, she said, and didn't look the part. She asked Miss Page if she really didn't think that James would be just the man for them. Agnes said perhaps he would. So the four of 'em went away for a walk on the beach and to talk it over.

I'll bet I called that valot anything but a church member and a good fellow; a dozen times over while I was diving into them dishes. I washed and washed till, seemed to me, I was soaked out fresh enough to kill, like a pickled codfish. And when the washing was done there was the wiping. I laid out a h'bat' or so of dish towels and pitched in.

Pretty soon somebody says: "Mayn't I help?"

I swung around and there was Agnes Page. Nice to look at, she was, too.

"Can't I help you, please?" says she picking up a towel.

"Land sakes, no!" says I. "You'll spoil your fine clothes. Besides I've got a cold, and I'm not well."

I was about to say something when Agnes said: "I'm not well either."

"Well, well!" says I. "Is this the way you hurry back to see what the dear children are doing? So, you old fascinat'r, how do you do it? Martin and I fell in love with him at first sight, Miss Talford; and now look at Agnes."

"Hold on there," says I. "Don't spread it too thick. I ain't got but one hat that'll do for Sunday, and I want that to fit me. I was giving Miss Page a few lessons in housekeeping, and you'd ought to thank me for that, Mr. Van Brunt."

It seems the Talford girl had seen James and he had agreed to go to Eastwick with 'em. "Twas a good chance for him, a soft job and all that. Truth to tell, I guess he was kind of sorry about parting from Van altogether, the gleaning might not be so good in his next boss' berry pasture.

So about six o'clock Scudder came with his dory and the picnics broke up. The Fresh Airers were pretty nigh played out by this time. The smaller children was nodding with their heads on the shoulders of the bigger ones, and I even had to tote two of the littliest in my arms down to the beach. But they was all full fed and sunburned and dirty and happy, and they'd had the bullest time in their poor, pinched-up little lives.

"Well, good-by, Andrew Jackson," says I to Roddy. "Had good time enough to want to come again, have you?"

"Sure thing," says he. "The Golden Eagle

"Like it as well here as you do over at the school!"

He is charged with embezzlement of funds from the railway company while acting as its attorney. His bond for appearance was fixed at $20,000.

Taft Witnesses Third Degree. Washington, Apr. 23.—President

New York, Apr. 23.—It was learned from trustworthy sources that President Lewis of the United Mine Workers yesterday accepted a renewal of the three-year agreement with the operators which expired on April 1 last. The agreement was drawn up between Lewis and a committee of the operators at Philadelphia and will be ratified at another meeting to be held in a few days between the full committee of operators and the representatives of the mine workers. The old agreement is reaffirmed in every detail, but a few minor concessions are made to the miners. Under the new agreement, as before, the union will not be recognized, and the same scale of wages and the same hours of work will be continued.

DYNAMITE RELIEVES NIAGARA. Terrific Explosions Open Ice Gorge in Lower River.

Youngstown, N. Y., Apr. 23.—A breach has been made in the great ice jam which for ten days has held the lower Niagara in its grip and caused damage estimated at $1,000,000. The immediate results of the first explosion were disappointing to the 400 spectators on shore, but Engineer Kuna and his men hammered away and at five o'clock the blast from 150 pounds of dynamite sent a tiny rivulet trickling through the vast side of the jam. At due further explosions and the ceaseless grinding of the floating ice had broadened this trickle to a bold young stream that boiled and roared exultantly between two sections of the ice-monster's maw.

Why not

THE reason CLOTH-CRAFT CLOTHES hold their shape so well and wear so long without looking shabby is because they are made of pure, all-wool fabrics.

There are higher priced clothes made of pure, all-wool; but Clothcraft is the only all-wool line in America sold at $10.00 to $25.00.

THE high quality and true value of all-wool fabrics are well known. In CLOTH-CRAFT CLOTHES for men and young men, the high standard of all-wool fabrics is maintained in every other feature of the garments—in style, fit, line, weight and workmanship.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

There is always something new in the market. It isn't likely to come and hunt you out though. Watch what is going on and keep posted by reading the ads.
